Eggs Only Better!

St Ewe Free Range Eggs is a multi-award winning, family business with a mission to be leaders of innovation, warriors of welfare and champions of farming; growing business into a force for good. Maintaining full transparency through our family values and nurturing the well-being of our hens, people, customers and communities is the driving force behind St Ewe's innovative approach to free-range egg production.

We are based in Cornwall and have been farming for over 40 years. With family values at our heart and nutrition at our core, we have wholeheartedly dedicated ourselves to producing the most unique range of eggs in the UK; whilst being mindful of our impact on the environment and always making sure our hens' welfare comes first.

All St Ewe eggs are Red Lion Code accredited and come from truly free-range hens who spend their days roaming and foraging in the fresh air, which in turn means that our girls produce delicious, highly nutritious eggs.

Our positive, bold, nurturing and transparent values mean that we constantly strive to do and be better, by farming sustainably, employing locally, and working to reduce our carbon footprint right across the business. We firmly believe in making sure we have a minimum impact on the world's resources, whilst at the same time producing quality, British produce that delivers on taste.

Our Retail Range

We offer the UK's most comprehensive range of free-range hen's eggs.

Hens are amazing animals and have the ability to absorb nutrients at high rates for their own health and then deposit them into their eggs; passing on vital health benefits to us.

As a hen matures, she lays different sized eggs. From small pullets to extra large eggs. This natural process has given us the inspiration to develop and bring our unique range to the market.

Based on strong scientific evidence, the Food Standards Authority (FSA) states that runny or even raw eggs can now be safely eaten by vulnerable groups such as babies, pregnant women and the elderly, as long as they carry the British Red Lion stamp.

'St Ewe eggs have the most beautiful sunshine yolks and are perfect for pasta. I'm really happy to support a family farm where the welfare standards for the hens are at the heart of the business.'

Super Eggs

Our multi-award-winning Super Eggs are the next generation in egg nutrition & our girls are fed a scientifically developed 'Super Feed', containing high levels of natural selenium (Se), Vitamin D & DHA Omega-3; which are fantastic for their health, as well as our own.

DHA Omega-3 benefits:

- Supports infant brain, eye & nerve development during pregnancy & first two years of life.
- Contributes to the cognitive function of the elderly.
- Plays an important part in carbohydrate metabolism & insulin sensitivity, allowing for the long-term maintenance of normal blood glucose concentrations.
- Contributes to the normal function & maintenance of the heart & brain.

Selenium benefits:

- Contributes to the normal function of the immune system.
- Strengthens hair follicles & nails, as well as boosting the collagen in your skin.
- Contributes to antioxidant activity in the body & helps regulate the thyroid hormone.
- Plays an important role in fertility (spermatogenesis).

A serving size of 2 Super Eggs provides 75% of your RI* of Selenium & 65% of your DHA Omega-3, as well as many other sources of nutrition- important for a healthy balanced diet.

Available in retail packs of 6 egg cartons and catering boxes of 5, 15 & 30 dozen.

Social Responsibility

Shell Out 2 Help Out #SO2HO

The Covid-19 crisis and rise in the cost of living have pushed many into untold hardship and has pulled back the veil on the severity of the UK's food insecurity issue.

In 2020/21 approximately 2.5 million people used a food bank in the UK, over 600,000 more than the previous year, (Statista, 2021).

As a British business, we feel it is our responsibility to support those living with food insecurity. Therefore, we have joined forces with Fareshare Southwest and pledge to donate 1 egg for every dozen sold across our retail range, as part of our Baker's Dozen campaign. Our mission is to donate in excess of 2,000,000 eggs, feeding approximately 300,000 families or enough eggs to create 1 million meals (based on 2 eggs per person per meal) to the charity.
